*Take him and cut him out in little stars,
And he will make the face of heav'n so fine
That all the world will be in love with Night
And pay no worship to the garish Sun.*

PREFACE

The real voyage of discovery consists not in seeking new landscapes, but in having new eyes.

Marcel Proust, Novelist and Art Critic

Cin literacy is long overdue in American education, and not just at the college level. According to Nielson Media Research, the average American family watches about 5.2 hours of television per day. That's a lot of time watching moving images. Yet, for the most part, we watch them uncritically, passively, allowing them to wash over us, rarely analyzing how they work on us, how they can shape our values. The following chapters may be of use in understanding how television and movies communicate, and the complex network of language systems they use. My purpose is not to teach viewers how to respond to moving images, but to suggest some of the reasons people respond as they do.

In this fourteenth edition, I have retained the same principle of organization as the earlier editions, structuring the chapters around the realism–formalism dichotomy. Each chapter isolates the various language systems and spectrum of techniques used by filmmakers in conveying meaning. Naturally, the chapters don't pretend to be exhaustive: They're essentially starting points. They progress from the most narrow and specific aspects of cinema to the most abstract and comprehensive. The chapters are not tightly interdependent: They can be read out of sequence. Inevitably, such a looseness of organization involves a certain amount of overlapping, but I have tried to keep this to a minimum. Technical terms are boldfaced the first time they appear in each chapter, which means that they are defined in the Glossary.

Each chapter has been updated to reflect recent developments in the field. I have also included many new photos and captions, most of them from recently released movies. Most of the images are in color.

The final chapter, Synthesis: Citizen Kane, is a recapitulation of the main ideas of the previous chapters, applied to a single movie. The chapter can also serve as a rough model for a term paper. Online viewing and DVD have allowed film analysis to be much more systematic, because a movie online or in disk form can be viewed many times. Citizen Kane is an ideal choice because it includes virtually every technique the medium is capable of, in addition to being one of the most critically admired films in history and a popular favorite among students.

New to this edition

This Fourteenth Edition of Understanding Movies builds upon the successful, visually engaging, and accessible presentation of previous editions to provide valuable insight into the language of film and how meaning is conveyed to audiences.

Key changes to the new edition include:

- Over one hundred new photos (and accompanying captions), most of them in full color, most from recent films
- Each chapter updated with recent books and important websites about movies
- Expanded coverage of classic works like On the Town, Once Upon a Time in the West, and Roman Holiday, as well as respected foreign movies like Anna Karenina, Taxi, and Ida
- More discussion of Hollywood's golden age of big-studio movies, like East of Eden, The Awful Truth, and The Philadelphia Story
- Expanded discussion of film genres, including sci-fi (Interstellar), action films (Furious Seven), animation (Spirited Away), and romantic comedies (Silver Linings Playbook)
- Discussion of contemporary stars and their influence on the wider culture, like Sean Penn, Jennifer Lawrence, and Melissa McCarthy
- More coverage of ethnic films, like Straight Outta Compton, movies about sexual minorities, like transgender people (Dallas Buyers Club), gays (Milk), and lesbians (Blue Is the Warmest Color), as well as films about the physically challenged (Theory of Everything)
- More discussion of famous actors who revolutionized the profession, like Lillian Gish, Greta Garbo, Sidney Poitier, and Marlon Brando
- Expanded coverage of big box-office hits like Skyfall, Captain America, Argo, Jurassic World, Guardians of the Galaxy, and Pirates of the Caribbean.

REVEL™

Educational technology designed for the way today's students read, think, and learn.

When students are engaged deeply, they learn more effectively and perform better in their courses. This simple fact inspired the creation of REVEL: an immersive learning experience designed for the way that today's students read, think, and learn. Built in collaboration with educators and students nationwide, REVEL is the newest, fully digital way to deliver respected Pearson content.

REVEL enlivens course content with media interactives and assessments—integrated directly within the authors' narrative—that provide opportunities for students to read about and practice course material in tandem. This immersive educational technology boosts student engagement, which leads to better understanding of concepts and improved performance throughout the course.
